

SenesTech Signs a Distribution Agreement with Target Specialty Products for ContraPest®

PHOENIX, April 5, 2023 /PRNewswire/ -- SenesTech, Inc. (NASDAQ: SNES, "SenesTech" or the "Company"), (www.senestech.com) the rodent fertility control experts and inventors of the only EPA registered contraceptive for male and female rats, ContraPest®, today announced a national distribution agreement with Target Specialty Products for ContraPest. In addition to distribution, Target Specialty Products and SenesTech will be actively collaborating in marketing and selling ContraPest throughout its network.

"This agreement with Target recognizes the important role that distributors represent, more as a strategic vertical than as a distribution channel. It represents a new and more collaborative partnership and allows us to leverage their marketing and education platforms directly to the pest management community," said Joel Fruendt, SenesTech's Chief Executive Officer. "The long-standing relationship between pest management professional, or PMP, and distributor in this scenario lends additional credibility to our product. They are selective about what products they carry, and ContraPest made the list. More PMPs will try it as a result."

"While the focus of our marketing and sales is on the PMP community directly, there are many times that a combined approach with a quality distributor better meets the PMPs' needs, and dramatically improves our reach," added Nicole Williams, SenesTech's Chief Revenue Officer. "SenesTech now has renewed and expanded agreements with the two largest structural pest management distributors: Vesperis and Target Specialty Products."
